

Wendy Ussher is a Principal Lawyer within the Constitutional Law Team at Crown Law, Queensland. She has nearly ten years' experience instructing the Solicitor-General of Queensland in constitutional cases before the High Court of Australia, Queensland Court of Appeal and other courts. She has had primary carriage of around 20 constitutional cases in the High Court for Queensland. Wendy has a Master of Laws from Pennsylvania State University, USA, with a concentration in United States Constitutional Law and Civil Rights.